

Blended Intensive Programme: GraSPA 2024 Summer School

Introduction to Particle and Astroparticle Physics

<https://lapp.in2p3.fr/graspa2024>

General Information

Objectives and Description:	This Blended Intensive Programme aims to introduce Particle Physics and Astroparticle Physics to 3rd and 4th year undergraduate physics students while touching on the latest results and challenges in these fields. For about a week, students will be immersed in an international research atmosphere, and will be able to spend time and discuss at length with scientists working in the field. There will be lectures on both the theoretical and the experimental sides of LHC Physics, Neutrinos, Flavour Physics, Astroparticle Physics (dark matter and cosmic rays) and Gravitational Wave Physics. There will also be hands-on sessions as well as students' presentations on their own work/topics of interest.
Target audience/participants profile language of instruction, requirements	3rd or 4th year Physics students. Courses will be in English. No background knowledge on the topics covered beyond a popular science level is required. However, a strong basis in Quantum Mechanics and a good knowledge of Special Relativity are expected.
Dates for physical activity, location: Dates for virtual component:	July 16th to 23rd 2024, Laboratoire d'Annecy de Physique des Particules (LAPP), Annecy, France August 29th to 30th 2024
Virtual Component Description:	Student groups will be created during the Summer School and remote work will be carried out afterwards on a topic proposed by the School organizers. Students will present their work at an online event at the end of August.
No of ECTS issued:	3 ECTS, subject to attendance and the obtention of a minimal mark of 10/20 for the remote work
